Radicals at the Garden Peasant Revolts Lead to Thought He Meant Capitalists' Gore.

Broad Hints at "Direct Ac- Massacre Follows Refusal tion" Met by Shrieks of Approval.

tremists Are the Only Thinkers.

When Victor Berger prophesied a Red Sea drowning for the forces of capitalism yesterday, 6,000 radicals who filled the floor of Madison Square Garden, placed a literal translation upon it and split the air with approving howls.

This same simian browed one with a few thousand others cheered the un-seated Congressman from Milwaukee vociferously when he said in his thick Teutonic dialect: "The capitalist class will reap soon enough the dragon teeth which it is sowing, and if they will stiffen their neck as did Pharaoh in the Rible they will supply Bible they will surely get acquainted with the ten plagues in the course of the next few years."

But the simian browed one and the

But the simian browed one and the other extreme radicals present maintained a surly quiet when the speaker said he had always personally opposed violence. That statement did not meet the spirit of the crowd, composed of Socialists and anarchists and apostles of Marx and Ferrer who attended yesterday's meeting. Every uterance that smacked of violent radicalism they uproariously applauded, while all other uterances they received with silence. terances they received with silence.
They also cheered every mention of the Bolsheviki to the echo, and booed and hissed every mention of the Kolchak
Government in Russia.

Wild Statements Cheered.

They cheered Alderman Algernon Lee when he said the war might be over over there, but that it was not over over here. They cheered Jacob Panken, the Socialist Judge, when he tried to lay the crimes of the bomb plotters at the door of the secret service. They also becomed cheers for Berger when he said: "If the capitalists persist in their persecution of Socialism they will have anarchism, and they will deserve it."

When he said, "If they put men like Hungarian Communists have been stirring up the Hillquit, Lee, Debs and myself out of business, they will get a different set," garians point out that the Czechs republishess, they will get a different set," garians point out that the Czechs republishes autonomy and the case of the socialism they will have been stirring up the Blovakia against the Czechs. When he said, "If they put men like munists have been stirring up the blovakia against the Czechs. The Hungarian Community and the case of the community and the case of the secution of Socialism they will have Lenine and Trotsky!" chorus of howls.

Berger spoke with passion of the age Act, and of the refusal of Congress permit him to take the seat in which Ital. was elected. "If that soviet of law-ers and bankers refuse to give me a seat," he said, "I will go back to Milwaukse, and I will be reelected. And if they send me to prison, I will fun from prison on the Socialistic ticket. "If they deny the Socialist party seat in the House," he continued with emotion, "then the wishes of the prole-tariat will be expressed another way." Generally this old leader of the Social ist party confined himself to the text of a printed manuscript that he brought with him, for he said he feared misquotation by Government operatives of whom there were many in the audience "If there is any representative of the Department of Injustice present," he said, "I would like him to step up to d, "I would like him to step to platform and I will give him a

LLOYD GEORGE'S BERLIN DOUBTS ENEMIES USING CHANGE IN PACT; GLOOM ABOUNDS

Paris Fail to Cheer Wilhelmstrasse.

PICKING A NEW CABINET

Count Brockdorff - Rantzau Expected to Quit Office Rather Than Sign.

By KARL H. von WIEGAND. Staff Correspondent of Tan Sun.

Copyright, 1919; all rights reserved. BERLIN, June 6 (delayed).-Extrenie scepticism prevails in Berlin that the three men who have remade the map of Europe will permit any far reaching changes in the draft of the peace treaty.

The rather optimistic wireless despatches sent by American correspondents in Paris which have been picked up here find little reflection in Berlin, and any modifications which would bring the treaty within what the Germans consider possible would come as a surprise.

The political barometer in Wilhelm strasse continues low. Hope has not been given up by any means, but preparations are being made for the worst. Speculation is rife in Government and sonnel of the next Government, and the parliamentarians are all but convinced from reports which have been received here of the changes which President Wilson and Premiers Clem enceau and Lloyd George may make that they are not likely to be enough to make possible the signing of the treaty by all the members of the present Cabinet.

Chancellor May Quit.

The statement by Chancellor Scheidemann in an interview given to me on Tuesday that perhaps some one The position of the Czechs in Slovakia rumor of Premier Lloyd George weak- else could be found to take his place be anticipates from the Allies.

It is regarded as an even greater certainty that Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau will place his portfolio as Foreign Minister at the disposal of President Ebert rather than sign the treaty if the terms do not include admission of Germany to the League of Nations, self-determination in the East Prussian and Silesian questions, a fixed total for reparations and greater limitation of the power of the Reparation Commission so that it will not be able to interfere in the internal affairs of Germany. It is reiterated in all parts of Wilhelmstrasse and in National Assembly circles that these constitute the minimum concessions which the present Government would consider as justifying it in signing the treaty. Since his formal statement to me it is known that Chancellor Scheidemann has said to friends that he is prepared to lay down his office rather than sign the treaty if these minimum concessions are not made. The attitude of Mathias Erzberger, the armistice envoy at Spa, is the subject of much speculation here. He is accused of shifting constantly and is attacked bitterly by the Radicals and by the ultra-conservative Nationalists

Ersberger Attacked.

Anonymous handbills are being scattered about the city citing a despatch from Geneva quoting alleged members of the American delegation to the effect that if the German people he had established facts to his own morance. #### U. S. Envoys Apparently Held Up Mailing of Treaty Until Signing Appeared Certain

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. Copyright, 1919; all rights reserved.

J ONDON, June 8 .- Judging by experience in recent attempts to send a copy of the Peace Treaty through the mails to the United States, both the British and American delegates in Paris are determined to prevent the publication of the full text until after the document has been signed by the Germans.

Apparently it was a mere accident that THE SUN received a copy of the treaty from The Hague, only a part of the mail from Holland being censored now. This copy came through uncensored, but when it was presented to be forwarded to New York the lid went down with a bang. When demand was made that it be forwarded or returned to the London office of THE SUN the matter was considered by the censor for five days, with frequent references to those higher up, and finally the copy of the treaty was released, but as it will require ten days to reach New York it is evident that the authorities are confident the treaty will be signed within that period.

When the correspondent of THE SUN presented his copy of the treaty to the mail censor the latter was amazed and an avalanche of questions followed regarding its arrival in England, where it was mailed, by whom, and when it arrived. Evidently a suspicion existed that THE SUN had procured its copy in some roundabout method, but this subsided when an examination of the postage stamps showed that the book had come through the mail in the regular way.

There is no doubt that the British authorities inquired in Paris if the American delegates wished this copy of the treaty to be forwarded, and the delay continued until the peace makers decided that it could not reach New York before the Germans signed. This decision must have been reached on Friday night, for the censor promised to inform THE SUN on Friday afternoon whether the document could be forwarded to New York, but did not do so until saturday morning.
